Section 5: Definitions:

5.1 Small bore - .22 short, long, or long rifle rim fire cartridges. For the purposes of range specific cartridge limitations, all other rim fire cartridges are considered center fire. On a range allowing "small bore" cartridges only, .22 magnum, .17 HMR, .17 Mach 2, and similar cartridges will not be used.

5.2 Magnum Loads – Given today's proliferations of cartridges, one must exercise good judgment as it is impossible to list all chambering's available. For example, lead bullets, loaded to traditional .44 Special velocities in a .44 Magnum case would be permissible in the indoor range. .45 Colt lead bullets, loaded to .44 magnum velocities in firearms that can handle it, are not permissible on the indoor range.

5.3 Center fire Rifle – While this seems self-explanatory, it should also include high velocity cartridges fired from handguns. For example, a handgun chambered in what is traditionally considered a rifle cartridge, shall not be used where the rules prohibit center fire rifles (.223, .221 Fireball, .243, .308, etc)

5.4 Pistol Caliber Carbine (PCC) Rifle – A lightweight rifle with a short barrel. Many carbines are shortened versions of full-length rifles shooting 9mm, .357 Sig, .40 S&W, 10mm and .45 ACP caliber ammunition designed for pistols.

5.5 Shotgun Slugs – Shotgun ammunition firing a single projectile.

5.6 Buckshot – any shot shell loaded with pellets larger than #2's.

5.7 Muzzleloader Handgun (MLH), Rifle (MLR), & Shotgun (MLS) – A muzzleloader is any firearm into which the projectile and usually the propellant charge is loaded from the muzzle of the gun. This is distinct from the more popular modern designs of breech-loading firearms.

5.8 In summary, all persons using GV ranges are expected to conform to the intent of these rules, even if the letter of the rules does not specifically prohibit such activity. The intent of these rules is safety and the preservation of club property. When in doubt about a specific firearm or cartridge, do not use it until you have received clarification from a Board Member. The rules for each range will show firearms and/or cartridges that are allowed or prohibited, target type and location specifications, and what firing lines may be used. Certain ranges such as the Action Pistol ranges #1, 2, 3, 4 have additional limitations that are specified for pistol ammunition only.

50 Caliber BMG is Prohibited on all ranges. Tracer, Incendiary, and explosive projectiles are prohibited. Armor piercing projectiles shall not be fired at any steel targets.
